Worsted Mill to Start Up. It is announced that the mill of the Danielson Worsted company, which has been closed for several months, will resume operations next Monday. Cotton worsteds will make up the principal output of the plant and the number employed will be about twenty-five. Since the mill closed, improvements have been made to the power plant of the mill and the capacity of the new engine is about double that of the old one. The prospects are for a good season on the line of goods to be manufactured and the activity at the plant will be another help to the general business of Danielson. It is announced that the mill of the

GIRARD CASE

Settled After Three Trials-Rumer That Plaintiff Is to Receive $3,000.

The case of Ferdinad Girard vs. the Grosvenordale company, first tried in the superior court here about two years ago and since twice been before the supreme court of the state, and which came up for trial for the third time before the superior court of Windham county on Tuesday, came to an abrupt ending Wednesday, when the attorneys agreed on a basis of settlement. What the terms of the settlement were was not given out, but it is understood Girard will receive $3,000. At the time the agreement was reached the evidence for the plaintiff was all in. At the first trial the tury brought in a verdict that The case of Ferdinad Girard vs. the plaintiff was all in. At the first trial the tury brought in a verdict that Girard receive $5,000. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, an error found, and a new trial ordered. At the second trial in this city a motion for non-suit by the attorneys for the Grosvenordale company was allowed by the court, but on an appeal to the supreme court by the plaintiff's attorney the case was again returned to the superior court re-trial. The ending came as a surprise. The costs in the long-drawn-out case are very in the long-drawn-out case are very heavy, said to be in excess of $1.000. Glrard sued for damages for injuries received by the breaking of a 42-inch pulley while he was employed in the mill of the Grosvenordale company. Attorneys Searls and Stone represented the company and Attorney Dorald. ed the company and Attorney Donald G. Perkins the plaintiff in the three trials. Dr. Kinnear's Surgical Work in China Dr. H. N. Kinnear, medical mission-ary of the Second Congregational church in Putnam, who is at the head ary of the Second Congregational church in Putnam, who is at the head of a hospital in Foochow, has been obliged to use the sitting room, of his own house for an operating room, but last year he performed over 800 operations with only his wife and untrained natives for assistants. A new hospital is in process of erection, on high ground, which will bring the buildings into prominence from a large part of the city. Of the nearly 18,000 patients treated last year, several came from high class families, and were most appreciaties of what was done for them. A distinctive feature of this and all mission hospitals, is the person, usually a native Christian, who acts as a kind of chaplain. Many of the patients have never heard the gospel story, and while they are being helped physically they listen willingly to what is told them. Dr. Kinnear is a resourceful man and often uses the Chinese queue to hold in place dressings of wounds about the head, or as a sling for the support of injured or diseased hands and arms. He writes that he considers medical missionaries the most favored of all workers. Yet that he considers medical missionaries the most favored of all workers. Yet his saiary is far below what he could earn as a surgeon in the United States.

Census Accuracy.

Progressive Slavs in the United States have secured an important concession through the paskage by the senate of Senator Oliver's amendment to the classification clause of the census act. This directs that "nationality or mother tongue" shall be the enumerator's guide with respect to representatives of distinct races hailing from certain countries. That is to say, instead of all natives of Hungary being set down as Hungarians, they will be classified definitely with relation to the state from which they come, as Croaclassified definitely with relation to the state from which they come, as Croa-tians, Moravians, Ruthenians, Serbs, etc., indicating a distinction in the na-tionalities of Slavish people. The Working Girl.

A Chicago woman's club has banned the term "working girl." As a substitute it proposes the extremely awk-word descriptive phrase "young ladies employed." The "woman's club" should first change its name to conform to its views. The "chairwoman" of the committee on much-ado-about-nothing, if that committee drafted the resolution here referred to, should be called a "chairiddy." or the Countess-occupying-the-Chair.

We have society women, women devoted to charity work, women traveling for pleasure, women writing books and plays, girls attending fashionable schools, girls marrying titles, girls singing in the chorus and girls and women engaged in all sorts of activity and inspiring poetry and art without any activity. The statesman, the orator, the author, the soldier, the dramatist, the civil engineer, the physician, the astronomer, the historian, the diplomat, the blacksmith, the miniature painter and men in various other "employments" are proud of their work, if it is well done, and not of their employments.

work, it is well done, and not of their employment.

When working girls go upon a strike for higher wages the public is inclined to sympathize with them, and to applaud the parade and uphold the right of the working girl to consideration. The world has a tremendous amount of respect for girls and for work. But it would probably be more difficult to stir up sentiment for "young ladies employed" if they should find their employment uncongenial, their hours unsuitable or their remuneration insufficient for them to live as a young lady employed ought to live.—Louisville Courier-ournal.

PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes:
"As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attendion if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when haldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.)

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed conditions.)

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.
